City politician arrested in fake note racket

Accused circulated Rs. 50 lakh counterfeit notes while purchasing gold

Mysuru, May 11 (RK&BCT)- A businessman-cum-politician from Mysuru has been arrested along with two others by the Bengaluru Central Crime Branch (CCB) sleuths for circulating fake notes worth Rs. 50 lakh in the name of purchasing gold from jewellers. The CCB personnel arrested the politician yesterday evening near Bharat Cancer Hospital and later picked up two of his associates.

According to Police sources, the politician from Hebbal was into real estate business and had contacts with fake note racketeers. The name of the accused, however, has not yet been revealed by the Police as it will hamper investigation.

As real estate business is facing a slump after demonetisation, the politician came up with the idea of purchasing gold from merchants and in turn giving them fake notes, the Police said.

His modus operandi was to convince gold merchants that he needed gold urgently for his friend's marriage and he would settle the deal by offering "extra cash" and that too in one-time settlement. While paying money for the purchased gold, the accused used to pack the currency note bundles in such a way that a couple of currency notes on the top of each bundle would be genuine and the rest would be fake.

Rs. 30 lakh deal

Zeroing in on a gold merchant in Bengaluru, the accused purchased gold worth Rs. 30 lakh from him and gave cash – that mostly contained fake notes – to settle the deal. The unsuspecting merchant accepted the cash bundles that even had the seal of a bank. He then went to a bank to deposit the cash where he was told by the bank officials that the notes were fake. The merchant lodged a complaint with Halasuru Gate Police Station.

Police lay trap

As the case was of fake notes, the investigation was handed over to CCB. Probing the case, the CCB sleuths came to know that the accused was from Mysuru and decided to lay a trap. Accordingly, a Police team arrived in Mysuru yesterday and called up the accused and told him that they had gold and they needed cash immediately. The caller from the Police team convinced the politician that the gold was pure and they could not sell in the open market as there were a lot of restrictions.

Taking the bait, the accused agreed to purchase the gold for Rs. 20 lakh. The Policemen had called the accused to a secluded spot near Bharat Cancer Hospital, opposite a PU college at around 6.45 pm. The Policemen, dressed in plain-clothes, had taken a few pieces of metal that were painted gold to deceive the accused.

As the accused arrived at the spot, the Policemen asked for the cash and the accused asked for the gold and the CCB sleuths showed him a bag that contained gold-painted metal. The moment the unsuspecting accused fished out bundles of cash from his bag, the CCB sleuths caught hold of him and bundled him into their vehicle.

Based on the information provided by the accused, the CCB sleuths arrested two more persons. All the arrested have been taken to Bengaluru, Police sources said.

The three were on their way from Mahadevapura to Mysuru and were triple riding without wearing helmets on a Pulsar bike (KA-09-HK-7079) with Rajesh riding the bike and Nandan and Abhishek riding pillion.

Reality of relationships

A former President the United States of America, making news of his extra-marital relations, as reported in the media even during the times he adorned the high post, was asked by a reporter about his foreign affairs, either innocently or with some mischievous intent of tickling the VIP. Unfazed by the unexpected, maybe embarrassing, question, the VIP, without battling the eyelid, replied that he had none, for sake of readers who had the chance to come across the related report in dailies to infer that all the parties giving the pleasure of their company to the President were indigenous. In an aside, his incumbent successor in the high office, Donald Trump should feel gratified and also vindicated about his avowed policy of America for Americans only! However, the expression foreign relations between countries, not involving individuals' personal side to relations, connotes a totally different meaning from relationships among members of society. This column dwells on the latter issue.

Husband-wife relationship, being the sheet anchor of peace and joy in the family, has just got fractured in the land, given the rising number of incidents breaking that relationship, as reported in the dailies, Mysuru region being no exception. The other relationships such as between (a) neighbours, b) siblings, c) teacher and taught, d) boss and subordinate, e) co-passsengers on a train journey, f) friends, g) lovers, h) people in long, seemingly unending queues, i) colleagues at workplaces and so on are currently witnessing unhealthy trends, particularly getting fragile.

Blessed are those who are party to enduring relationships with others, irrespective of their profile marked by umpteen factors such as age difference, economic disparity, limited vocabulary in the tongue of the other party, looks that are both alluring and otherwise, social status as revealed through one's attire adrift from sartorial perfection, regional affiliation, educational background, food fads, diverse pursuits for livelihood and what have you. Those given to nit-picking with the nagging nature of focussing on details about others not conducive to sustain pleasant relationships have nobody to blame than themselves. Granted that we are living under steadily worsening stressful conditions leaving us tired, both mentally and physically, but can it be denied that these conditions are self-created both individually and collectively by contemporary society.

In the backdrop of currently happening down-trend in according importance to safeguarding inter-personal relationships of aforementioned myriad kinds, both within the four walls of homes and in public domain, one may appropriately recollect the advisory traced to ancient mentors namely "Let a person raise himself by himself (without pointing the accusing finger towards others).

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Now that China is insistent on persisting with – or persistent on insisting with – renaming cities in Arunachal Pradesh, it is time New Delhi puts its foot down and asserts its historical ties with several Chinese cities, claims they are as authentic as the Chinese claim on Indian settlements. In this accommodating spirit, here are the previously Indian names of some major Chinese cities, including a brief historical account of each, with the caveat: don't expect China to get the joke.

Beijing: Called Beijingpur, originally Bejaanpur, a lifeless city. Named after an Indian tribe called Bejaans who migrated from Delhi 2,000 years ago because the heat drained them of all energy.

Shanghai: Originally Shangli – a Maratha city conquered by Bajirao the Umpteenth. Name is also said to be derived from Shenga, the Marathi word for groundnuts, or Sanga, Sanskrit word for friendship and union.

Chengdu: Also called Chengdu during the reign of Ramayya Vastavayya, the Telugu troubadour who travelled here and spread Telugu song, letters and literature.

Xian: Originally called Xianivarpet or Shanivarpet. A saturnine, star-crossed city that was Xhunned by everyone after it was established by Bajirao's rebel son Changan Bhujbal.

Tianjin: Site of conquest by Rajaraja Chola (Cho La, in Chinese) who named it Thanjavur after a city in Tamil Nadu, before it was shortened to Thanjin and later Tianjin.

Nanjing: Originally known as Nanjingud or Nanjangud, site of Hoysala conquest and named after Indian monk Nanja (Nan Ja in Chinese) who was famous for drinking poison for pleasure.

This Pizza induces child labour

Raleigh: Hawthorne's New York Pizza and Bar in Charlotte is considering changing the name of its Buffalo Wings Pizza into "The Inducer" after dozens of pregnant women have credited it with helping them deliver their babies ahead of schedule. Tales of the labour-inducing properties of this medium-hot pizza have been circulating around Charlotte for over half a decade, and some women actually swear by it.

Charlotte Five recently investigated this local rumour, and talked to some of the women who claim to have benefited from the labour-inducing effects of The Inducer.

The legend can apparently be traced back to Ali Aldrich, who in 2010, she was almost due to have her baby. She couldn't wait any longer either, and having heard that spicy food helps induce labour, she decided to try her favourite pizza, the Buffalo Wings Pizza at Hawthorne's.

"Soundwave Tattoos"

Los Angeles: Tattoos have always been considered a visual medium, but thank to an innovative blend of art and technology, you can now listen to your skin art by using a smart phone app.

Los Angeles-based tattoo artist Nate Siggard came up with the idea for audible tattoos when two friends came in to get the opening line from Elton John's "Tiny Dancer" inked into their skin. The artist's girlfriend casually said that it would be cool if you could actually listen to it, and her comment inspired him. Siggard realized that there was a way to make sound come alive on someone's skin, by tattooing the sound waves generated by a computer. He tried it out on himself first, inking the voice of his girlfriend and his baby and posting on social site. And that's how Skin Motion, the company for tattoos that you can listen to was born. So what's the secret behind this innovative type of tattoos. The Skin Motion website of mobile app allow people to generate a minute-worth of wave pattern of any sound on their skin, be it a voice, a song and virtually anything.

VOICE OF THE READER

How safe are elevators in public places?

Sir,

I would like to share my bitter experience at a building on Ramavilas Road in city recently. I got into the lift to go to the second floor and pressed the 'on' button. Within a few seconds the power went off and I was stuck inside the lift.

There was no emergency alarm or a light or a liftman for help. It was pitch dark and I had to call my driver over cellphone who was some distance away. He rushed to the spot and alerted the security personnel standing away from the building. Only then they opened the lift door and managed to bring it to lower level so that I could jump to the ground floor.

There was neither generator back up nor automatic landing facility. It appeared to be an outdated lift. My worry is such callousness on the part of building owners and managers is unpardonable. Let them install safety measures at the earliest so that people don't experience the same again.

Extend Hinkal flyover

Sir,

The flyover near Hinkal is really a good move as it avoids traffic jam on Ring Road traffic signal junction and also on Hinkal Road.

Actually the flyover starts from petrol bunk or Grand Maurya to RUDSET point on Hunsur Road. But now due to demand from some shop owners, the flyover is landing in Hinkal itself, that is, it starts from petrol bunk to Hinkal instead of landing near RUDSET.

The purpose of starting this project is to bypass Hinkal and traffic point. Hence I request the authorities concerned to look into the matter and continue with the old plan.

Mysuru, May 11(RKB&DM)- JD(S) State President and former Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy was caught on camera slapping a party worker during the booth-level party workers meeting at Sa.Ra. Convention Hall here on Wednesday.

When Kumaraswamy was leaving the hall after attending the meeting, a few supporters of Chamundeshwari MLA G.T. Devegowda approached him demanding 'B' form to Devegowda's son G.D. Harish Gowda for Hunsur Assembly segment.

When Kumaraswamy explained that he came to attend the meeting and not to distribute the party 'B' form, a few supporters of G.T. Devegowda raised their voice against him. Kumaraswamy, who lost temper reportedly walked into the crowd and slapped a party worker.

Kumaraswamy in denial: However, Kumaraswamy clarified that he did not slap the party worker, but prevented him from touching his feet.

"The party worker came to touch my feet seeking 'B' form for MLA G.T. Devegowda's son Harish Gowda to contest from Hunsur. But I avoided him from touching my feet", Kumaraswamy said.

Harish Gowda himself a strong party contender for the seat, was said to be upset over reports that former University of Mysore Vice-Chancellor Prof. K.S. Rangappa may get the JD(S) 'B' form for Chamaraja constituency.

The list includes 30 of the 40 sitting MLAs. The other notable candidates who find mention in the list include senior Congress leader A.H. Vishwanath, sitting Congress MLA A.S. Patil Nadahalli and six other Congress leaders.

What is interesting to note here is that the Congress leaders who find mention in the list, are yet to leave the party. However, the JD(S) has denied tickets to 7 rebel MLAs.

Those who find place in the list include H.D. Kumaraswamy (Ramanagar), H.D. Revanna (Hole Narasipura), A.H. Vishwanath (Hunsur), G.T. Devegowda (Chamundeshwari), C.S. Puttaraju (Melukote), Prof.K.S. Rangappa (Chamaraja), Ravindra Srikantaiah (Srirangapatna), S.R. Mahesh (K.R.Nagar), Chikkamadu (H.D. Kote), Suresh Gowda (Nagamangala), D.C. Thammanna (Maddur), Dr. Annadani (Malavalli), H.S. Prakash (Hassan) and H.K. Kumaraswamy (Sakaleshpur). The JD(S) has chosen the candidates for 98 seats, where it considers to be strong.

The party chose to finalise the list on Buddha Poornima day, which the JD(S) President H.D. Kumaraswamy considers as most auspicious. Kumaraswamy who visited Nanjangud's Srikanteshwara Temple yesterday is said to have placed the list in front of Lord Srikanteshwara seeking his blessings. Besides, Kumaraswamy is learnt to have asked the finalised candidates to start campaign in their respective constituency.

These candidates have also been assured that there will be no changes in the list for whatever reason.

Sources in the JD(S) said that the finalised list will be made public at a party convention to take place in North Karnataka sometime later this year. Kumaraswamy has chosen to keep the list very confidential as any lead would mean that the ruling Congress in the State and the BJP at the Centre, may target these candidates by filing false cases against them.

It is now certain that only two H.D. Kumaraswamy and H.D. Revanna from JD(S) supremo and former PM H.D. Devegowda's family will contest the polls, although Revanna's wife Bhavani (Belur), son Prajwal Revanna (Hunsur) and Kumaraswamy's wife Anitha Kumaraswamy (Channapatna) had shown keen interest to contest the polls.

The finalised list also include A.S. Patil Nadahalli (Devarahipparagi), A. Manju (Magadi), C.N. Balakrishna (Shravanabelagola), K. Gopalaiah (Mahalakshmi Layout), M. Krishna Reddy (Chintamani), K.N. Manjunath Gowda (Malur), Sudhakar Lal (Koratagere), C.B. Suresh Babu (C.N. Halli), S.R. Srinivas (Gubbi), K.M. Thimmarayappa (Pavagada), Y.S.V. Datta (Kadur), B.B. Ningaiah (Moodigere), S. Madhu Bangarappa (Soraba), M.J. Appaji Gowda (Bhadravathi), Sharada Pooryanayak (Shivamogga Rural), H.S. Shivashankar (Harihar), N.H. Konareddy (Navalgund), Manappa D. Vajjal (Lingasugur), Dr. Shivaraj Patil (Raichur) and Mallikarjun Khuba (Basavakaliyan).

Kumaraswamy admits groupism in JD(S)

Mysuru, May 11- Admitting that there was groupism in his party too, State JD(S) President and former CM H.D. Kumaraswamy has said that all issues regarding party organisation will be addressed soon.

Speaking to press persons after the booth level meeting of party workers at Sa. Ra. Convention Hall in Dattagalli here yesterday, Kumaraswamy said, as of now, there was no proposal of senior Congress leader A.H. Vishwanath's entry to the party. When this is the scenario, he could not understand why one faction in the party was persisting on giving ticket to G.T. Devegowda's family and the other faction projecting the name of Prajwal Revanna.

Pointing out that factionalism in the party has resulted in some confusions, Kumaraswamy maintained that there was a lot of demand for the party ticket for 2018 Assembly Polls.

Clarifying that the party tickets will be distributed only after consulting all workers in the respective constituency, Kumaraswamy said that he has appealed JD(S) supremo H.D. Deve Gowda to allot the party ticket in constituencies where there are no problems and confusions.

Referring to reports on H.D. Deve Gowda's family members contesting the elections, Kumaraswamy clarified that only he and his brother H.D. Revanna will contest the 2018 Assembly polls.

Even JD(S) supreme H.D. Deve Gowda has already clarified this in the past, he said and added that H.D. Revanna too has said that his (Revanna) son will not be contesting.

JD(S) can win 130 seats: HDK

Mysuru, May 11 (RKB&DM)- Asserting that the JD(S) can win 130 to 140 seats in the 2018 Assembly Polls if booth-level party workers gave their best, State JD(S) President and former CM H.D. Kumaraswamy has called upon the booth-level workers to shun differences and work unitedly for the party's victory.

Addressing a booth-level meeting of party workers at Sa.Ra. Convention Hall here yesterday, Kumaraswamy asked party workers to ensure victory in at least 10 out of the 11 Assembly seats in the district.

Highlighting the need for forming booth-level committees each comprising 15-20 party workers, he said that the JD(S) was like a factory that 'creates' leaders.

Asserting that the JD(S) will not have any truck with any other party, the former CM maintained that the party will issue tickets only after committing local leaders and workers.

Stating that the JD(S) will waive off farmer loans, provide employment to the jobless and a monthly honorarium of Rs. 5,000 to aged persons who have crossed 70, he said that the party will initiate many other pro-people initiatives if the party was voted to power.

Accusing the State and Central Governments of playing with the life of common man, he said that the Centre and State were blaming each other over drought relief funds.

Alleging that Chief Minister Siddharamaiah was doing little for welfare of the farming community, which is reeling under the worst drought in over four decades, the State JD(S) Chief hit out at the CM for failing to compensate the farmers for crop loss.

K.R. Nagar MLA S.R. Mahesh too addressed the gathering.

MLCs Chowdareddy, Kantharaj, Appaji Gowda, Ramesh Babu and K.T. Srikantegowda, who have been newly-appointed as party Conveners for the five Revenue divisions, were issued order letters on the occasion.

Decoding Mythology

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

The start date of my religion

Historians say that Islam started 1,400 years ago, with the rise of the Prophet Muhammad. However, Muslims will say that Islam started when Allah created the world and gave his laws to the first Prophet, Adam. Prophet Muhammad is the last of the long list of Prophets that includes Noah, Moses and Jesus. But the creation of the world by God is not considered a historical fact. Historians will dismiss it as religious truth, or myth, or imaginary, not scientific truth or history.

Every religion believes that it originates from the dawn of time. Many Christians still believe, based on Biblical accountants that the Creation happened in 4004 BCE i.e. approximately 6,000 years ago. That then would be the date when religion originated. Of course, everyone disagrees what was that religion: Jewish people say it was Judaism, countering the Muslim claim. Christians will say that God changed the rules, 2,000 years ago when he sent Jesus to earth. They will not accept that the rules were changed again and revealed to Muhammad 1,400 years ago.

Historians will say that Buddhism began 2,500 years ago, based on the period when the Buddha lived. However, in Mahayana Buddhism, Adi Buddha or the primal Buddha has always existed as long as the world has existed. And since the world has always existed, Adi Buddha has always existed. From time to time, wise men attain Buddhahood and walk amongst humans in mortal forms. The historical Buddha was one such Buddha.

In Jainism, both world (samsara) and wisdom (dharma) are eternal (sanatan) and interwoven. The world goes through infinite cycles of growth and decay. In each of these cycles, there are 24 wise men known as Tirthankaras, who realise and share the wisdom of the universe with mortals, before they ascend to Siddha-loka. The last of these wise men, in the current phase, was Mahaveera who was a contemporary of the Buddha according to historians. Historians believe that the 23rd Tirthankara, Parsva, lived maybe 200 years before Mahaveera.

However, they are not convinced about the existence of earlier Tirthankaras, those who according to Jain lore, were contemporaries of Krishna and Ram.

Historians see the Harappan civilisation as thriving in the Indian subcontinent from 2600 BCE to 1900 BCE (approximately 4,000 years ago) and the Vedic civilisation thriving from 1500 BCE to 500 BCE (approximately 3,000 years ago), both contributing to what since 19th century has been called Hinduism. However, many Hindus, based on an uncritical reading of Hindu Puranas, insist that the war of the Mahabharata actually took place 5,000 years ago (despite complete lack of archaeological evidence), and Ram lived 7,000 years ago. They see the last Ice Age as the Pralaya or flood of destruction, and the end of Ice Age, 12,000 years ago, as the dawn of Krita Yuga. In other words, for them Hinduism began in India 12,000 years ago, and it existed even prior to the Ice Age, saved through the 'deluge' by people who can be called the fish (matsya) incarnation of Manu. For those seeking the truth about the origin of religions, there are two approaches: The historical one based on facts and the mythological one based on faith.

Arguments lead to fights. Discussions reveal diverse ways in which people think.

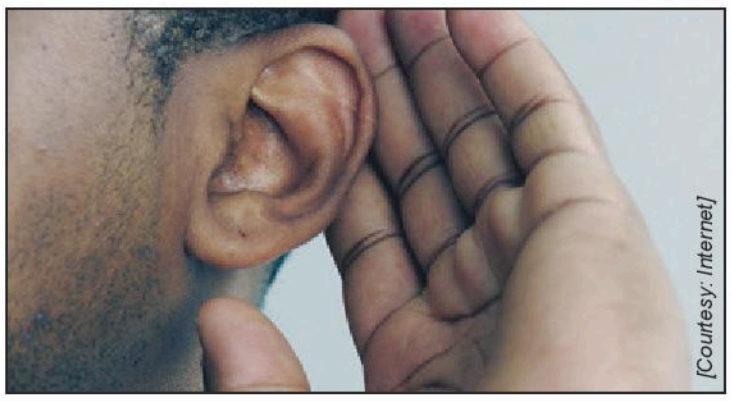
The art of listening

By N.K.A. Ballal,
Retd. Sr. Vice-President, ITDC



[Courtesy: Internet]

Viktor Frankl, one of the great psychiatrists of the twentieth century, survived the death camps of Nazi Germany. His little book, Man's Search for Meaning, is one of those life-changing books that everyone should read.

Ballal

Frankl once told the story of a woman who called him in the middle of the night to calmly inform him she was about to commit suicide. Frankl kept her on the phone and talked her through her depression, giving her reason after reason to carry on living. Finally, she promised she would not take her life, and she kept her word.

When they later met, Frankl asked which reason had persuaded her to live?

"None of them", she told him.

What then influenced her to go on living, he pressed.

Her answer was simple, it was Frankl's 'willingness to listen' to her in the middle of the night.

A world in which there was someone ready to listen to another's pain seemed to her a world in which it was worthwhile to live. Often, it is not the brilliant argument that makes the difference. Sometimes the small act of listening is the greatest gift we can give.

Let us take the example of the epic Mahabharatha. The ending might have been different if only the master Dronacharya listened properly and reacted. When Dronacharya asked Yudhistira whether his son Aswatthama had been killed, Yudhistira, on instructions from Krishna, replied "Aswatthama Hatha and whispered Kunjara". [An elephant named Aswatthama had been killed]. Dronacharya heard the first two words and renounced his weapons and got killed. If only he had listened properly may be the end result of the epic war would have been different... True?

A visit to any Church would reveal the presence of a "confession box". All the priests are trained to listen. They listen to the woes and problems of the common man or women and send them back saying "do not worry, the Lord will take care". Having 'unburdened' their problems, people feel relieved. This is unofficial counselling.

The art of listening is not easy. As a head of a PSU, we were trained to listen to the grievances of our workers, day in and day out. Some of the grievances could not be solved and the workers also knew it but nevertheless they had to be heard. At least in person, one can make out the anguish or pain of the person and react but when hearing a problem on phone, one is left to his own wisdom to react and give advice. One has to judge the tone and react accordingly. As Peter Drucker the Management Guru has told "the most important thing in communication is hearing what is not said".

Hearing is not necessary listening nor is it necessary listening well. There is a lot of difference between hearing and listening.

Most of the people come to converse with their own agendas and to make their own point of view heard. If one observes, most of the time the conversations become meaningless and after half-an-hour if one were to ask as to what was discussed, you would draw a blank look. Very rarely does one put our entire attention or heart into truly listening and understanding any bit of conversation. Is the art of listening some rocket science? Or is it a born gift? For some it is, but for the majority it is a cultivated discipline. God has deliberately created two ears and only one tongue so that we talk less and listen more! Now let us look into some basic rules which will cultivate the discipline of a good listener

1. Eye contact: Simple but most forgotten. People always open up and trust those who have the habit of looking directly at them instead of looking down or here and there.

2. Do not interrupt unnecessarily: This is one of the most annoying habits one should avoid when conversing. It is irritating and puts off people.

If the person who is talking values your opinions, he or she would like to hear it out after they have finished their own thought process and not before. At the same time it is also important to interrupt in the conversations to ask pertinent questions on the subject to understand it. When in doubt, get it cleared. To make sure both of you are on the same wave length. Another important point is that you should make appropriate noises like grunts or use words like "okay" or "fine" etc., in between the conversation to make the person talking realise that you are actually following the talk.

3. Do not let your mind wander: Our mind can think about 800 words per minute compared to about 150 words one can speak. Hence it is important to concentrate and not let the mind wander on its own course.

4. No negative judgments: The judgemental part should be left to the last after hearing out completely. Sometimes we tend to make our own judgments and opinions and tend to break the communication thought of the other person. It is also important to understand the body language, tone and most importantly, the pauses.

These are just some tips. No two persons are alike. Hence you have to use your own wisdom and communicate. But if you are a good listener, you would be an asset for any organisation. Lot of bosses do not give direct and specific instructions.

But if one learns to interpret their words and actions and do the needful, your career is made. If one listens carefully one can read between the lines!

With experience, a good listener also learns the knack of shutting up people politely without hurting them when the talk goes overboard. If talking is silver, silence is gold. It is tough not to talk or respond but to keep quiet and listen. In the olden days if one recollects, the sages used to preach that one has to do "Maun Vrat" once in a while. Even in this modern age, lots of Gurukuls practice this art of silence.

To conclude, the art of listening can be acquired by sheer practice and practice. The art of listening is a important and essential life skill which will help you in your every day life and also improve your communication with friends and family. For some it is a born gift. Exception to the rule is our own Shri Arnab Goswami, who does not allow anyone to complete a sentence. Too. Do you agree ?

Development works which were stalled at Chamundi Hill has begun once again.

Mysuru, May 11 (MTY&NNN)- Cocking a snook at the environmentalists and NGOs who had stalled the development works for almost a year atop the Chamundi Hill, the District Administration after getting a green signal from the Green Tribunal has taken up the works with full vigour.

The works, which is likely to change the contours of the Hill, will turn it into a better tourist and pilgrims attraction. The State Government had come forward to construct a multi-level parking lot, public toilets, commercial complex, guest house, underground drainage (UGD), drinking water facility and the railing work to streamline the queue leading to the temple at a cost of Rs. 2.32 crore.

However, a few environmentalists and NGOs like Mysore Grahakara Parishat and Let's Do It! Mysore terming the development as 'environment vandalism,' had approached the Green Tribunal to stop the works. Now that the Tribunal has given permission to continue the work, the pace of it is hotting up.

Already the ground and first floor has been completed and the work on the second floor is going on and once completed nearly 600 cars and 50 buses can be parked, said the officials. This building will also house guest house for pilgrims, toilets and other facilities.

To facilitate the devotees to have the darshan of the reigning deity Chamundeshwari, stainless steel railings at a cost of Rs. 42 lakh is being installed to regulate the queue and this will be completed by June 15, said the sources. The garden from the Mahishasura statue to the Temple will be spruced up at a cost of Rs. 19 lakh by laying lawns, installing benches and laying track for pedestrians to walk around the garden.

DC warns shopkeepers

Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep has warned the shopkeepers who sell the puja and other items on the road near the Dasoha Bhavan not to cross the white line drawn in front of their shops and if they violate, their shops would be vacated. The shopkeepers have also consented to this ruling.

DFRL Technology Day a crowd-puller

Students and the public listen to the DFRL scientists explaining about products at the technology expo inaugurated in DFRL campus here this morning.

Mysuru, May 11 (SP&NNN)- Defence Food Research Laboratory (DFRL) Director Dr Rakesh Kumar Sharma, inaugurated the Technology Day products display exhibition organised as part of the National Technology Day that is being celebrated across India, here this morning at its premises in Siddartha Layout.

This day is being commemorated in memory of the anniversary of Shakti, the Pokhran nuclear test held on May 11, 1998. It glorifies the importance of science in day-to-day life and motivates students to adopt science as a career option, said the Dr R.K. Sharma.

The inauguration of exhibition was followed by signing of MoU for technology transfer of 10 product/process with three companies — Universal Foods, Mulki (Ash Gourd juice), Sri Arihant Industries, Bangalore (millet dosa mix, millet chapatti mix, millet roti mix, millet jamoon mix, sweetened milled mix, spiced millet mix) and Schemecken Agro Food Products, Chennai, (process for bacterial cellulose production, nata in fruit juice and ginger beverage).

There was an enthusiastic response from students and the public as they lined up to see the various edible food products on display that the DFRL with its innovative technology is producing for the Armed forces who at high altitudes are not getting hot food due to freezing of food packets in icy environments.

Edible cutlery, films and food pouches

Spoons, forks, soup spoons, ice-cream sticks and bowls that were on display were particularly attracting the attention of the young minds as all these items on display were edible. According to the DFRL scientists, the ingredients used in making the edible cutlery and edible films are normal food components. They can be made to impart taste and texture using different flavours and colours with food ingredients of plant origin.

While the edible cutlery items have a shelf life of 18-24 months, the edible films have a shelf life of around nine months at room temperature. The edible cutlery can be preserved with little precaution, and hence are suitable in all climatic conditions and remote areas.

Students at the DFRL Technology Day that was held this morning.

The ready-to-eat products by MTR, instant foods, nutty bars, mango juice powder, mutton crunchies, dehydrated chicken cubes, mutton and chicken bars, edible hydrogel with coloured flavour (with water content), biodegradable plastic were all on display.

DFRL Scientist A. Ramakrishna who delivered the Technology Day Oration on "Design and Development of food engineering systems for Armed Forces at high altitudes," speaking to Star of Mysore said, "the Army personnel deployed in altitudes and icy environments are not getting fresh wholesome curd in their regular menu. Therefore DFRL-DRDO has developed a system for making fresh curd at very low electrical energy successfully at high altitudes and at sub-zero temperature."

He revealed that they were successful in making Fresh Curd Maker after failing for 30 times and it took two-and-a-half years. There was good response from the armed forces for this product which was tested for one-and-a-half years.

Some of the students told Star of Mysore, that they found the visit to the expo very useful as they could also now think of it as a career choice.

Assistant Director Gopal Krishna Sharma, Dr A.D. Semwal, Dr M. Talmurugan, Dr M.C. Pandey, Dr D.D. Wadekar, Dr Fahad Khanum, C.R. Vasudeesh, Renukumari and others were present during the inauguration.

Education is vehicle for social, economic and political transformation

2-day National Conference on 'ICT in Education' begins

Mysuru, May 11 (US&PM)- A two-day National Conference on 'ICT (Information and Communication Technology) in Education: Perspectives, Practices and Possibilities,' organised by Swami Vivekananda Youth Movement (SVYM), commenced this morning at Senate Bhavan in Manasagangotri here.

About 400 delegates from the education sector are participating in the Conference.

Inaugurating the Conference, Minister for Primary and Secondary Education Tanveer Sait opined that Information and Communication Technology should be advocated in education at primary and secondary levels. He added that a new education policy would be introduced shortly.

Speaking as chief guest and delivering the keynote address, Dr. K. Kasturirangan, Chairman, Karnataka Knowledge Commission and former Chairman, Indian Space Research Organisation, opined that education is the important vehicle for social, economic and political transformation. Quoting the words of Swami Vivekananda, he said that education is not the amount of information received but how much of that is assimilated and imbibed in life and character.

He pointed out that ICT would improve efficiency of managing educational institutions to improve enrolment and retention rates. He added that ICT provides job-oriented courses to link students to needs of industries.

Continuing, Dr. Kasturirangan opined that both teachers and students should have access to relevant technology which suits the needs of education and not business. He added that a culture of openness is necessary to craft appropriate educational policy.

SVYM Founder-President Dr. R. Balasubramaniam presided.

SC begins hearing on triple talaq

New Delhi, May 11- The Supreme Court this morning began its hearing on a batch of six petitions and a suo motu public interest litigation petition on whether triple talaq violates the fundamental rights of Muslim women.

The five-judge Constitution Bench led by Chief Justice of India J.S. Khehar and comprising Justices Kurian Joseph, Rohinton F. Nariman, Uday Umesh Lalit and S. Abdul Nazeer is hearing the case. Interestingly, all five Judges of the Bench belong to five different faiths.

The Apex Court has said that it would examine whether triple talaq was fundamental to religion. The Court also observed it would also examine whether triple talaq was a part of enforceable fundamental right.

The Central Government has asked the SC to reopen the debate whether personal laws can be brought under the ambit of Article 13 (laws inconsistent with or in derogation of the fundamental rights) of the Constitution.

Among those supporting triple 'talaq' are All India Muslim Personal Law Board and the Jamaat-e-Islami Hind.

Kings and Mumbai Indians face-off at Wankhede

Mysuru, May 11- Kings XI Punjab will play the second of their must-win matches when they come up against the Mumbai Indians at the Wankhede Stadium later in the day.

MI sit pretty at the top of the standings and are the only team to be assured of a playoff spot. The equation for KXIP is simple; they have 12 points from 12 matches, and need four more points to give themselves the opportunity to compete for a playoff spot. 16 points might not guarantee a playoff spot, but that's the least they need to stay in contention; if KXIP can win the remaining two matches and get to 16 points, they will then need other results to fall in their favour.

MI, who lost their most-recent match, to Sunrisers Hyderabad, will look to establish momentum as they head into the crucial business part of the tournament. Having played so well for most part of the season, MI will believe they deserve the insurance and a second chance to make the finals; for that, they will need to finish in the top two.

Rohit Sharma needs 46 more runs to complete 3,000 IPL runs for MI; the MI captain is coming into this match at the back of his highest score this season. Every significant score by the MI captain has been followed by a poor score in the next inning; can he break that trend now and stitch together a series of good scores? Lendl Simmons does not get as much recognition as he should; the Trinidadian has been a consistent performer for MI, and he will be expected to get the team off to a flier at the top.

On the bowling front, MI will look towards Mitchell McClenagahan to strike early, and hope Harbhajan Singh can stifle the batsmen in the middle overs. Where KXIP are concerned, the three internationals, Martin Guptill, Shaun Marsh and Glenn Maxwell, need to play the lead role on the batting front. Axar Patel is having a very successful season all-round; the youngster is riding high on confidence and is now looking to make a contribution with bat, ball and on the field. Among the bowlers, Sandeep Sharma has generally set the tone for KXIP with early strikes and he will be expected to saw off the MI top order quickly.

KPCC will be revamped by May end: K.C. Venugopal

Shun 'show-off' culture, don't lobby for posts, AICC General Secretary tells Congress leaders

Venugopal Siddharamaiah Parameshwara

Bengaluru, May 11 - On the last day of his maiden visit to Bengaluru after taking over as the new AICC General Secretary in-charge of Karnataka, K.C. Venugopal is learnt to have strictly instructed his party leaders not to lobby for any post.

He has promised a complete organisational revamp at Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) by the end of this month. Addressing a press conference after the KPCC coordination committee meeting here yesterday, Venugopal said that there were minor differences in the party but they would be sorted out soon.

Venugopal and AICC secretaries Manickam Tagore, P.C. Vishnunadh, Madhu Goud Yaskhi and Sake Sailjanath have been camping in the city for past three days. They interacted with leaders and legislators seeking their opinion on several issues.

On discipline in the party, he said: "Let me be very clear, I do not like people who raise slogans in favour or against any leader or those who openly criticise senior leaders. I also do not like those who become visible in party affairs only when leaders from New Delhi land here. I firmly believe that such people are of no help to the party, so please refrain from this 'show-off' culture."

Venugopal did not approve party leaders making statements against their seniors. "Senior leaders speak their mind and it might even embarrass the party at times, but that doesn't mean second rung leaders can launch a tirade against them in public.

As far as taking action against seniors is concerned, if anyone has violated party norms, the central leadership will take note and take action. So do not create confusion by making any ill-timed statements against seniors."

"We have had a marathon discussion and interacted with 431 leaders. After discussion, we have realised that there is unity in rank and file," said Venugopal.

Flanked by Chief Minister Siddharamaiah and KPCC president Dr. G. Parameshwara on either side, Venugopal deftly avoided answering questions on the choice for the KPCC President post. He only said that the KPCC was doing a good work under the present President. But they have to strengthen the party at all levels, he added.

"The organisational revamp will be done with immediate effect. All the prevailing speculations will be over by this month end," he said.

ZP members demand action against schools for RTE violations

Mysuru, May 11(RKB&DM)- The monthly Karnataka Development Project (KDP) meeting at the ZP hall this morning, saw a few ZP members taking the Education Department to task for failing to take appropriate action against schools which have failed to comply with the RTE (Right to Education) Act.

As soon as the meeting began, JD(S) member Beerihundi Basavanna sought to know from the DDPI what action had been taken against such schools.

Replying to Basavanna, DDPI H.R. Basappa said that complaints have been lodged against RTE errant schools in the jurisdictional Police Stations. Also, as most schools were CBSE schools, the State Education Department cannot act against them directly.

When Basavanna asked about the fate of Police complaints lodged in previous years, the DDPI reportedly failed to give a convincing reply which irked Basavanna, who asked the DDPI to come up with full information on RTE admissions across the district at the next meeting.

Taking exception to the appointment of Guest Teachers at Government schools when the academic year was midway, Basavanna sought to know the details about the appointment of teachers.

DDPI Basappa said there were 236 vacant guest primary teacher posts and 221 guest high school teacher posts in the district, out of which 100 high school guest teachers were appointed this year within one week of receiving the order.

ZP President Nayeema Sultana, who also expressed disappointment over belated receipt of uniforms at several schools in H.D. Kote taluk, directed the officials to ensure that uniforms and furniture are despatched in time, so that the children were not affected.

WORD OF THE DAY

Lanuginous

Meaning: covered with down or fine soft hair
Origin: Lanuginous has an unsurprising pedigree. It's from the Latin word lanuginosus, which is in turn from lanugo, the Latin word for "down." (Lanugo is also an English word used especially to refer to the soft woolly hair that covers the fetus of some mammals.) Lanugo itself is from lana, meaning "wool," a root also at work in lanolin, the term for wool grease that's refined for use in ointments and cosmetics.

Example: At the base of the mullein's tall spire is a cluster of large lanuginous leaves. The scent [of erica, South African heather] is subtle, woody, coniferous — it smells of hot origins. And it's ridiculously tactile: I have to keep prodding the lanuginous bobbles. — Helen Brown, The Independent (UK), 23 Nov. 2006.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

A labour of love

Meaning: Work undertaken for the pleasure of it or for the benefit of a loved one.
Origin: This phrase has a biblical origin and appears in Thessalonians and Hebrews (King James Version).
Example: We give thanks to God always for you all, making mention of you in our prayers; Remembering without ceasing your work of faith, and labour of love, and patience of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ, in the sight of God and our Father. - Thessalonians 1:2, 1:3.

QUOTE BOX

Let us not be satisfied with just giving money. Money is not enough, money can be got, but they need your hearts to love them. So, spread your love everywhere you go. —Mother Teresa
